Browns fans, sign up HERE to join FanPulse. The Week 6 polls are in, so let s look at the results to see how optimistic Browns fans are getting! How confident are you in the direction of the team? Last week: 83 percent confidence This week, 96% of fans voted for their confidence in the direction of the Browns, a 13% increase from last week. Cleveland has now bounced exactly from 83% to 96% from Weeks 3 to 4, and now from Weeks 5 to 6, to correspond with the team s wins and losses. The 96% confidence mark is the highest in the AFC North. If you recall White Damarius Randall Jersey , the Ravens were at a perfect 100% last week. All it took was one loss to the Browns for that confidence to plummet to 42%! The Bengals are at 87% confidence, while the Steelers are at 36% confidence. Will the Browns make the playoffs? In a new question this week, fans were asked if they thought the Browns would make the playoffs. Some may look at 43% of fans saying yes as being way too optimistic, but I actually see it as quite reserved. The 96% confidence from early shows that fans really like the overall direction the team is headed, but aren t convinced that will lead to an immediate playoff spot in 2018. Will the Browns win or lose in Week 5? Odds: Chargers are 1.5-point favorites Dawgs By Nature FanPulse: Browns by 5 Bolts from the Blue FanPulse: Chargers by 6 Each fanbase is confidence in their respective team s chances of winning this week. Who is the best team in the NFL? Between the Rams and the Chiefs, fans across all SB Nation sites gave the honor to the Rams of being the best team in the NFL. That was my selection too but it would be a heck of a game to see if they squared off against each other. Browns quarterback Baker Mayfield snubbed ex-coach Hue Jackson after today s win in Cincinnati, where Jackson is now an assistant coach. When you look at Mayfield s stats, it s easy to see why Mayfield doesn t think much of Jackson. That s because Mayfield has been much better since Jackson and former Browns offensive coordinator Todd Haley were fired. In the six games Mayfield played with Jackson as his head coach and Haley calling the plays, Mayfield completed 58.3 percent of his passes, averaged 6.6 yards per pass, totaled eight touchdowns and six interceptions, and had a 78.9 passer rating. In the three games Mayfield has played since Jackson and Haley were fired, Mayfield completed 73.9 percent of his passes, averaged 8.8 yards per pass, totaled nine touchdowns and one interception <http://www.authenticsclevelandbrowns.com/cheap-derrick-kindred-jersey> , and has a 129.5 passer rating. Mayfield has also become the first rookie in NFL history to have back-to-back games with a passer rating higher than 140. How much of this change is just Mayfield developing, how much is the fault of Jackson, how much is the fault of Haley, and how much is to the credit of interim head coach Gregg Williams and new offensive coordinator Freddie Kitchens, can all be debated. But there s little doubt that Mayfield is a better player right now than he was just a month ago.
